About the Pacific Islands Committee

The Judicial Council of the Ninth Circuit established the Pacific Islands Committee to fulfill the oversight responsibilities of the council and of the Judicial Conference of the United States with respect to the judiciaries of the American territories in the Pacific (American Samoa, Guam, and the Northern Mariana Islands) and of the former Trust Territories: the Federated States of Micronesia, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, and the Republic of Palau. The United States assisted with the formation of the judiciaries in these islands and the Pacific Islands Committee is charged with monitoring their judicial development. Traditionally, the courts of the Pacific administered justice with modest levels of resources.

The specific responsibilities of the Pacific Islands Committee include assisting in the development and provision of continuing judicial education and court professional training, and overall improvement of the administration of justice in the courts. The committee also has oversight responsibility for judicial education grants from the Department of the Interior, which provides the funding for the training activities contained in this report.

The Pacific Islands Committee is composed of federal judges appointed by the chief judge of the Ninth Circuit. In FY 2020-2021, the membership included:

Overview of the Pacific Islands Judicial Education Program

The Department of the Interior appropriates funds each fiscal year to the Ninth Circuit to provide judicial training programs in the Pacific territories and Freely Associated States. This funding, which is mandated by Congress, covers the cost of presenter/staff travel, training materials and the travel costs of attendees for judicial education programs developed for the American territories- and former territories- in the Pacific. Each year, the Pacific Islands Committee provides the DOI with a written report summarizing the programs and related expenses.

In fiscal year 2021, the courts of American Samoa, the Federated States of Micronesia, Guam, the Marshall Islands, the CNMI and Palau participated in a variety of virtual training programs developed in conjunction with subject matter experts, the Pacific Judicial Council and the Pacific Islands Committee. These training programs designed to strengthen court governance and the rule of law, improve judicial systems and processes, and develop the skills of newly appointed judicial officers and replace live training during the pandemic-related travel disruptions. The objectives of the training programs are:

- The training of judges to provide fair, impartial and speedy justice, with a bench imbued with integrity, professionalism and competence;
- The training of court leaders with ethical principles to train court staff and lead courts in the 21st century;
- The training of lawyers to provide a pool of qualified candidates to fill future judicial vacancies;
- The training of court interpreters to provide access to justice to local communities; and
- The training of probation officers, court security officers, and other court personnel to effectively and efficiently administer access to justice.

Program Development

The Pacific Islands Committee [PIC], which oversees the delivery of judicial training in these island jurisdictions, works closely with the Education Committee of the Pacific Judicial Council [PJC] to plan, develop, and deliver judicial training and court development services locally. In addition, the PIC works independently with the leadership of the judiciary of the Republic of the Marshall Islands to coordinate training consistent with the goals established by the judiciary's strategic plan and to provide scholarship opportunities to U.S. mainland trainings when those programs best serve the needs of the stakeholders. Compact Funds also support programs developed independently by the courts of the Federated States of Micronesia.

Target Audience

The assessment performed by the National Judicial College identifies the principal target audience for judicial training. This document, along with the FSM and RMI strategic plans, and the leadership of the judges who make up the PJC Education Committee, determine the training priorities each year. In fiscal year 2021, the highest educational needs have included leadership training, practical skills for court clerks, elder abuse training, and training to identify and address the impacts of secondary trauma on judges and court staff.

Measuring the Impact of Judicial Training

Each program is evaluated to determine the impact of professional development on judicial (or staff) knowledge, beliefs/attitudes, and skills. Evaluation assures that the beneficiaries of this training have the knowledge and skills required to perform their judicial branch responsibilities with fairness and integrity; preserving impartiality and access to the justice system; and ensuring the administration of justice as well as public trust and confidence in the judicial branch.

For each program, ongoing evaluation is carried out in order to monitor cost efficiencies and evaluate program impact. To enable effective evaluation, precisely defined learning objectives are established for each program developed or attended by a funded participant. Careful evaluation of each program by participants is carried out and a summary reviewed by the program planning committee.

The effectiveness of the judicial education programs developed in FY 2014 in terms of learning gain, attitudinal or behavioral change, and improved professional conduct and performance was measured by a combination of the following:

- Participant satisfaction and self-evaluation forms;
- Assessment of learning outcomes;
- Reports written and submitted by scholarship recipients and program attendees; and
- Review of court annual reports.

2021 Programs at-a-Glance

In fiscal year 2021, 19 judicial education projects were supported by funds from the Department of the Interior. The number of funded programs was greatly reduced from previous years because the COVID-19 pandemic and related travel bans were in place on many of the islands. Funding sources include the Technical Assistance Grant for judicial education awarded to the Ninth Circuit for training programs to benefit the judiciaries of American Samoa, Guam, the CNMI, and the Republic of Palau and Compact Funds for the Federated States of Micronesia (FSM) and the Republic of the Marshall Islands (RMI). The programs in this section are listed in chronological order and outcomes can be found beginning on page 13 of this report.

3. DRGDR Drugged Driving
 Date: November 20, 2020
 Location: Online via Zoom
 Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Grant

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Much is changing in cannabis, opioids, other drugs and driving. Jurisdictions are experiencing an increase in drugged driving issues. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration’s (NHTSA) Report and the Governor’s Highway Safety Office/FAAR Report, drugged driving surpassed alcohol and driving in roadway fatalities in the U.S. for the first time in history in the last two years.

This presentation offered the studies that discuss how and why marijuana and other drugs affect driving. It identified the findings of studies and reports related to THC impairment; indicia of impairment and SFSTs in cannabis driving cases and impairment in other drug cases. It included hot topics in drugged driving cases including testing and cases of interest.

4. PRORA Cannabis Series: Sentencing, Probation, and Risk Assessment

Date: December 11, 2020

Location: Online via Zoom

Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Grant

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Individualized sentencing is critical for the effective and efficient use of judicial resources in addressing impaired driving cases. Individual defendants present different risks and have different needs to be addressed as part of probation in reducing their recidivism. The terms and conditions of sentencing and probation on an impaired driving case can be effectively designed to significantly reduce recidivism and increase public safety. How can we accurately gauge an impaired driver’s likelihood to reoffend? How can we effectively identify their level and type of needs? How can the principles of monitoring; accountability to the court; and rewards and sanctions be effectively used? What kind of effect on recidivism and public safety can we have by effectively addressing an individual impaired driver’s risks and needs? This presentation helped answer those questions and identify the screening, assessment and probation tools available to significantly reduce recidivism among impaired drivers, collisions, injuries and deaths.

5. LEGSS Cannabis Series: How the Legalization of Marijuana and Hemp is Impacting Search & Seizure

Date: December 18, 2020

Location: Online via Zoom

Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Grant

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The increase of marijuana decriminalization and legalization and use has caused an increase in vehicle and person search and seizure issues related to marijuana odor that implicates the Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. This is compounded by the removal of hemp from the Control Substances Act which has led to the propagation of CBD products.

Due to the similarities between both the smell and sight of marijuana and hemp, law enforcement is now faced with challenges in establishing probable cause for automobile stops, and searches of vehicles and persons. Appellate case law is now developing but the issue remains a gray area. With varying rationales, courts in several states have upheld searches of vehicles and persons based on the odor of marijuana alone while others require something more than the odor alone.

The states also differ on the legal use of “sniff dogs” to conduct those searches. There are also developing issues related to the mischaracterizing and labeling of CBD products which are causing inaccurate THC levels upon testing by the courts and issues regarding cross enforcement. One issue of state versus federal law is whether an officer employed by one government can justify a marijuana search or seizure based upon a violation of a different level of government. This presentation explored these developing search and seizure issues

6. SWWHY Leadership Series: Start with Why

Date: January 21, 2021

Location: Online via Zoom

Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Grant

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Any person or organization can explain what they do, some can explain how they are different or better, but very few can clearly articulate why. The WHY is not about money or profit — those are results. The WHY is the thing that inspires us and inspires those around us.

When we clearly understand our own WHY, we can gain a greater sense of purpose within our organizations, contributing who we are at our best. And when we are at our very best, doing work that matters to us, the natural result is greater fulfillment. This is not only good for us but contributes to the vision and the long-term progress of the organization.

Examples like Martin Luther King, Jr., and the Wright Brothers prove that great leaders think, act, and communicate in the exact same way — and it's the complete opposite of how everyone else does. The Golden Circle is the framework upon which organizations can be built, movements can be lead and people can be inspired. And it all starts with WHY.

Key Takeaways:

- Explore why WHAT we do becomes more powerful when we know WHY we do it.
- Learn how the WHY can act as a filter, giving us an alternative perspective on our organizations, careers and even our lives.
- See the reason human connection through trust and authenticity is vital to an organization's success.

9. ELDER Elder Abuse

Date: February 18-19, 2021

Location: Online via Zoom

Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Funds

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

In court, individual abusers are responsible for violence; but systemically and socially, ageism is what helps support and maintain abuse against older adults. Ageism is pervasive and can contribute to disenfranchisement of older adults and chill access to the courts and help-seeking even when there are no bad intentions. What policies, practices, rules and regulations that impact the court or access to services inadvertently or intentionally harm older adults?

Learning Objectives:

- Consider how assumptions based on age can have harmful effects on older litigants in court
- Identify how elder abuse may present in cases
- Discuss what it means to create survivor-centered and trauma-informed solutions in cooperation with older survivors
- Recognize evidence of dangerousness and potentially lethal violence in elder abuse cases
- Use a framework for guardianship determinations that prioritizes the autonomy and civil rights of older adults while also minimizing the opportunity for and impact of elder abuse

10. EATLS Leadership Series: Leaders Eat Last
 Date: February 25, 2021
 Location: Online via Zoom
 Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Grant

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Imagine a world where almost everyone wakes up inspired to go to work, feels trusted and valued during the day, and then returns home feeling fulfilled. This is not a crazy, idealized notion. Today, in many successful organizations, great leaders are creating environments in which people naturally work together to do remarkable things.

Great leaders sacrifice their own comfort—even their own survival—for the good of those in their care. This principle has been true since the earliest tribes of hunters and gatherers. It’s not a management theory; it’s biology.

When we create an environment where people feel like they belong and operate in a “Circle of Safety” the result is trust and collaboration—allowing people to spend their time and energy working together toward a higher cause that inspires them, rather than spending their time and energy protecting themselves from each other.

Key takeaways:

- Discuss how deep, trusting relationships are built—the kind of relationships that can withstand the inevitable pressures and dangers all organizations face.
- Learn how choosing to protect our people before our numbers can actually inspire our people to take care of the numbers in the long term.
- Explore why leadership is not an event, but a process that is developed from simple, everyday actions.

11. OVRVW PJC: Overview of the Courts: Why Your Role Matters

Dates: March 16, 2021 and May 11, 2021
 Location: Online
 Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Funds

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Courts exist primarily to resolve disputes between private individuals and their government in accordance with the law, and all court staff play a role in the purposes and responsibilities of courts. Participants learned about the purposes of courts and how their roles as court staff support the court’s purpose and mission. Procedural justice also plays a key role in improving public trust and confidence and through interactive sessions, the participants discussed the importance of procedural justice and their role in the process.

Court staff also must understand how to assist and respond to court patrons, attorneys and litigants in a case. Recognizing the difference between legal advice and legal information and learning about ethics and the code of conduct will help the participants understand how to give appropriate assistance to patrons and all who come before the courts.

The training was interactive and engaged court staff from PJC jurisdictions in various discussions. Participants analyzed hypothetical scenarios by applying key principles discussed during the training. All court staff are essential to court operations and participants learned why courts exist and why their specific role matters.

12. INFIN PJC Leadership Series: The Infinite Game

Date: March 25, 2021
Location: Online
Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Funds

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

We can't choose the game. We can't choose the rules. We can only choose how we play. Infinite games, like football or chess, the players are known, the rules are fixed, and the endpoint is clear. The winners and losers are easily identified. In infinite games, like business or politics or life itself, the players come and go, the rules are changeable, and there is no defined endpoint. There are no winners or losers in an infinite game; there is only ahead and behind. The more we begin to understand the difference between finite and infinite games, the more we can see that infinite games are all around us. This program helped reveal that many of the struggles that organizations face exist simply because their leaders are playing with a finite mindset in an infinite game. These organizations tend to lag behind in innovation, discretionary effort, morale and ultimately performance.

Key takeaways:

- See that we are all players in both finite and infinite games, in our work and personal lives, and be able to distinguish the difference between the two
- Learn the five practices that are required to lead in an infinite game: Just Cause, Trusting Teams, Worthy Rival, Existential Flexibility, and the Courage to Lead
- Explore a new way of looking at your leadership and your organization and the environment in which it operates.

15. BTRST PJC Leadership Series: Building Trusting Teams

Date: April 22, 2021

Location: Online

Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Funds

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Build Trusting Teams – an environment in which people feel psychologically safe to express themselves and be who they really are. A team is any group of two or more people working together toward a common goal or objective. We see teams in all facets of organizations, business and life. We all know trust is vital to a team’s success, but how do we move that understanding into practice? This session brings the Trusting Teams chapter from Simon Sinek’s book, “The Infinite Game to Life.” Co-designed with close friend Rich Diviney, a former Navy SEAL Six Commander and author of “The Attributes,” the session will help you focus on the inputs to trust and performance that will yield more sustainable long-term results for your leadership and your team. Explore the necessary components of building a trusting team:

 Create a Circle of Safety

 Show vulnerability

 Use candor with care

 Live your culture

Key Take Aways:

- Discover more about what inspires them individually and collectively as a team
- Learn how trust is the component that will get you furthest with your culture and performance
- Unpack four components of trust
- Conduct individual, small team and full room exercises for each of the trust components
- Leave with clear commitments for action to bring a greater trusting team to life

16. CSMGT PJC: Case Management

Date: June 9, 2021
Location: Online
Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Funds

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Why should courts care about case management? This course is designed to show the many ways staff can assist the courts in tracing and moving cases more efficiently. The program started with a brief review of Best Practices in case management, including time standards, performance, and other principles embodied in CourTools, the National Center for State Courts' list of 10 categories of effective trial court management. Attendees engaged discussions on hurdles involved in tracking the aging of cases, whether the individual courts have electronic case management systems, alternatives if they do not, and goal setting.

Then, with the input of the participants, they concentrated on practical solutions to issues and challenges, crossing all relevant case types handled by the courts.

They confronted the issues surrounding the number of times cases are listed in court before disposition, and some solutions to the problems that arise when cases are listed too often. The program stressed the importance of having meaningful events, limiting the length of delays, and documenting the reasons for continuances. Issues of speedy trial, judge availability, tasks that staff can perform, accurate notices to lawyers and litigants, and accountability were addressed.

17. TRAUM PJC: Secondary Trauma

Date: July 14, 2021

Location: Online

Funding: Compact Funds and Technical Assistance Funds

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Occupations within the legal system can sometimes be quite stressful. Employees face many stressors related to both their tasks (e.g., being overloaded with responsibilities) and exposure to stressful events (e.g., gruesome trials, working with dangerous offenders). The presentation

1. Introduced the various types of stressors that attendees might face including vicarious trauma and burnout,
2. Helped attendees recognize the signs of occupational stress,
3. Determined whether stressors are related to cognitive processing and emotion regulation strategies, and
4. Identified some strategies and approaches to address stress.

Attendees completed an anonymous online survey before the presentation. The survey measured job-related stressors, established stress scales (e.g., vicarious trauma, burnout), cognitive processing, and emotion regulation styles. Completing the survey allowed participants to assess their own stress levels and helped them learn to recognize the signs of stress now and in the future. During the presentation, the presenter described the group-level data (using common language), which helped the attendees understand how their own stress levels compare to the group-level stress data. The presenter closed the program with some recommendations for addressing stress based on both past research and results of this study.

18. NJCAJ NJC: Comprehensive Search and Seizure

Dates: January 25-March 12, 2021

Location: Online Course

Funding: Compact Funds

The Fourth Amendment is the most implicated constitutional protection. It is also the most litigated. Accordingly, judges frequently have to rule on objections and motions concerning the Fourth Amendment. What is a search? When does a seizure occur? What are the types of searches and seizures? What interests are protected by the amendment? Who has standing to challenge the intrusion? When is a search or seizure justified? When do the police need a warrant? If the Fourth Amendment has been violated, does the exclusionary rule apply?

The four-day course offered insights on motion hearings practice, examined the principles related to consent searches, and contained sessions on warrant issuance and review of that decision, warrant execution issues, and searches without warrants. These latter searches include exigent circumstances, community caretaking, inventory searches and automobile searches. The course also discussed frisks and searches incident to arrest. Finally, the course offered an overview of developing principles related to computers and digital evidence.

Learning Objectives:

- Describe limitations on protected interests including open fields, assumption of risk, voluntary disclosure and abandoned property.
- Articulate the Supreme Court’s framework to address standing.
- Identify the present scope of Fourth Amendment protection in areas around residences and businesses.
- Determine when a seizure occurs within the meaning of the Fourth Amendment.
- Identify the Terry v. Ohio frisk, plain view and plain feel, protective sweeps, exigent circumstances, and inventory exceptions to the search warrant requirement.
- Determine the applicability of the Fourth Amendment to automobile searches.
- Summarize the “knock and announce” rule and identify the limits of detaining a person during the execution of a search warrant.
- Summarize the elements of a valid search warrant.
- Define when to hold motion hearings and rule on standing issues with greater accuracy.
- Summarize the exclusionary rule; define the “fruit of the poisonous tree” doctrine; describe when the “attenuation of the taint” doctrine applies; identify when the “independent source” doctrine applies; describe the “inevitable discovery” rule; identify the applicability of “good faith” in the area of inevitable discovery; and summarize the “impeachment” exception to the exclusionary rule.
- Describe the two different ways that appellate courts analyze computers (as containers or as “special approach”).
- Analyze whether the amount of intermingled documents should change the analysis in allowing a computer search or seizure or not.
